Integrated Mobile Learning

Providing micro learning content for macro results

Does your current mobile learning solution enable just-in-time learning, that can be accessed anytime, anywhere through a cost effective method?

Our Integrated Mobile Learning Solution manages and distributes micro learning objects to learners' mobile devices, according to curricula and roles set by the enterprise training administrators. Learners are then able to complete micro learning objects while offline, with assessments being synchronised to the Mobile Learning Content Store once online again.

The learning objects can be any educationally sound learning content, which can vary from:

- ✓ Paper-based, step-by-step guides
- ✓ Low interactive multimedia courseware
- ✓ Electronic books (mainly text based)
- ✓ Drill and practice tutorials
- ✓ System simulations
- ✓ Storytelling
- ✓ Electronic games
- ✓ Fully interactive multimedia objects including animation, screencasts and more.

Micro learning objects are low-range interactive text and graphic-based objects, with a maximum seat time of 5 – 7 minutes. The micro learning objects are small, user-friendly chunks of information that are easy to understand, consumable and in a reusable format.

The solution we offer is customised to reflect your corporate brand. This can be supplemented with learning material development services offered by our Learning Development Team, who works closely with your subject matter experts.

Virtually any kind of organisation, from educational institutions to public and private sector organisations can benefit from our integrated mobile learning solution that makes all of this possible!
